Churches: Iglesia Pacto de Paz, Piedras Negras; Pacto de Paz, Acoros; Centro Familiar Cristiano Del Rey, Gómez Palacio

Rosa Elia (Rosita) and her brother Pepe entered Casa Del Rey along with their sister, Clarita, the first year we opened. Rosita was six, Clarita was four and Pepe was 14 months. Clarita and her husband have five children. Pepe is a mechanic.

Casa Jovenes Del Rey boys, Rancho Jovenes Del Rey boys and Casa Del Rey girls gather for lunch at Casa Del Rey.

Dear Partner:
Thanksgiving! For what and to whom do you give thanks? For me, I'm thankful to God for you who stand with us in prayer and offerings so that we can continue ministering the Gospel to precious children and youth. Your support makes a difference.

Angelica and Felipe enjoy Rosita.

For example, in 2000, Rosita (pictured top left and right) graduated from high school and then attended Bible School in Mexico City. After graduating from there, she returned to serve on staff at Casa Del Rey until September 2014 when she moved to the city (Piedras Negras) to care for her ailing father. There she found employment as a dental assistant. We will miss her presence at the home although we are so proud of her for taking on the responsibility of caring for her dad. She will continue to attend church at Pacto de Paz.

When one of our girls, Lizbeth, came to our home in El Moral, she was scared and quite uncertain of her future. She had grown up in a government run children's home. Unbeknownst to her, just prior to her sixteenth birthday, the authorities decided that it was time for her to find somewhere else to live. Felipe tells me that one day a child welfare agent suggested to her that they go for a ride. So she happily jumped into the car. That "ride" ended 450 miles away at our home in northern Mexico along the US border! She was not told that her things had been packed for her and were placed securely in the trunk of the car. Brother Felipe explained to the agent and to Lizbeth that we are not a prison. We only accept children that want to be with us. But the agent drove off anyway, leaving a very insecure girl in our care, one whose world had been shaken. Deeply hurt and confused, the child of course left Casa Del Rey at the first opportunity. Later, however, after she had had time to consider the care and personal concern we had shown toward her, she asked to return. She is now settled in, and is learning about Jesus.

Lizbeth is happy to be home with us again.

My late husband Bob gave assurance of love and security to all of the children that came to him just as he comforted the hearts of his own children even into adulthood. He practiced the same toward each precious soul that entered our doors. We still practice this same love and commitment. The kingdom of God is both a kingdom and it is a family. That is, we are an Ecclesia (government) and a Koinonia (fellowship). Though we rule in the presence of our enemies, we are known to be disciples of Jesus by our love, and that love shines brightest in the eyes of those who have no power to return that love other than by their joyful thanksgiving.

Thank you for causing the love of Jesus to shine brightly through the eyes of these boys and girls. God bless you!
